Seales KO's Lankester

And...Lankenster says "Goodnight"!

Former Olympic gold medalist, Sugar Ray Seales of Tacoma put on quite a boxing exhibition at the Seattle Center Arena over Mike Lankester of Renton to successfully defend his Northwest Middleweight boxing championship. Seales put Lankester away in the second round and he looked great doing it. Seales tagged Lankester with a long left early in the second round. Lankester fell back across the ring and before he knew it he had got in the way of a left to the head. He hit the canvas.

Angelo Dundee, who is always in Muhammad Ali's corner, was in Lankester's corner and he stated that Seales is a great fighter who can hit successfully. He also stated that "the best fighter won".

Seales says he hopes to continue his campaign in the Seattle/Tacoma area, and is looking for a sponsor to help him further his career.

Another ring bout was the first women fighters in the ring. Zinda Foster jabbed, chopped and made it look like she was a decisive winner over Sharon Alsberry. See pictures of this bout in next week's FACTS!

Black Women's Conference Will Highlight Attacks on Community Problems

The Seattle Section, National Council of Negro Women, Inc. will host a Black Women's Conference at the Olympic Hotel on October 31 and November 1, 1975 entitled: "Black Women: Voluntary Organization for Self-Help and Community Betterment." The Conference will examine and explore the influence of Black Women in various aspects of their lives, as well as their collective and organized efforts for the betterment of the community. The focus will be the organized and united efforts of Black women working together as a group to attack community problems and concerns.

Barbara J. Flint, Coordinator of the Black Women's Conference.

A reception, honoring voluntary and self-help organizations, will be held the evening of October 31st at 8:00 p.m. Special recognition will be given to several Black women who have been chosen to represent their organizations because of their outstanding contributions and voluntary efforts within the community. Peggy Maxie, 37th District Representative will present the awards.

The second day, November 1st, will be devoted to workshops designed to discuss specific topics such as Women's Rights, Civil Rights, Politics and Civic Affairs. Workshop leaders include Marjorie King, Democratic Committee Woman, Barbara Laners, National Labor Relations Board, Ida Chambliss, Coordinator of Inservice Training for Foster Day Care, Liz Thomas, Minority Job Placement Center at the University of Washington, Maxine Mims, Professor at Evergreen State College, and Jeri Ware of the Center For Urban Studies of Western Washington, Fairhaven.

The Conference is being coordinated by Barbara J. Flint, Assistant Professor of History at the University of Washington.

Annie M. Hall is President of the Seattle Section of the National Council of Negro Women.

HEALING THE SICK SOCIETY

Recently I read a statement that says, "If America is a model for the rest of the world, mankind is in one hell of a shape." Do we have a sick society? And if we do have, is that disease terminal? The aspect of our mentality perhaps has its origins in security. But do we have a society that develops weaklings, that will put a gun in their hands that will transform them automatically into a Samson and give them a taste of power and inflate their egos? The attempt on the life of a President is beginning to become a routine matter. The fact that two women have recently tried to kill Mr. Ford may also reflect some interesting developments in our womanhood. Be that as it may, it appears that we've got to make a change in our constitution and provide for the election of several vice presidents. As the saying goes, "it's better to be safe than sorry." Yet our national government sets a poor example for the general residents of America. I was appalled to read how the CIA prepared some special poison to murder an African leader. The revelations of criminal conduct by some of our agencies of government coming out of Washington, are more shocking than some of the stories of the dirty work by Stalin and the Kremlin.

Now we wonder where can we find the remedies of our sick society. The most rational remedy, perhaps, for a sick society, lies in the field of education. Yet, some of our educators are so confused that one despairs of any real help from this quarter. Their performance in the bussing situation is scandalous. Most of them are prejudiced and do not understand the real importance of integrated education. Yet we have a multi-racial society and all Americans should have some multi-racial exposure. Both blacks and whites in this country grow up with some weird notions about each other than might be overcome if they had been exposed to some true integrated experience. It is easier to hate those you don't know. It is also easier to kill them, as your Viet Nam experts will tell you. If there is no law requiring desegregation our educators should be demanding integration in the schools Education covers more than text book information and the greatest area of blindness now in our society is in the field of race relations. All peoples should tell our president that this is no time for divisive statements on bussing which encourage the violators to break the law. But right now, today, we need leadership in Washington which can inspire and stimulate the noblest impulses of the people. Somebody is giving Mr. Ford some queer advice. His stand on aid to the jobless and the needy is incredible. We need a change. We need it now. RIGHT ON!.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD SPONSORS NATIONAL CONVENTION

Planned Parenthood Federation Representatives Give A Black Perspective Of Family Planning

By Glenda Winfield

The Planned Parenthood Federation of America held its Annual Convention in Seattle this week. In attendance were over 700 participants for the five days of meetings and discussion of major issues concerning planned parenthood.

Representing the Planned Parenthood Department of Community Affairs were Kenyon C. Burke, Director, B.T. Hollins, M.D., Chairman, and Eloise Whitten, a veteran organizational worker with Planned Parenthood.

Dr. Hollins, who in his native Houston, Texas is an obsetrician/gynocologist and a member of the Texas Planned Parenthood Executive Board, advises women over 40 not to take or continue the birth control pill. He said, " Although those over forty in my practice have been on the pill for years and have not suffered any kind of heart condition, the results of the recent British study on the pill indicate that there is some danger involved." In reference to cancer-causing elements in the pill, Dr. Hollins stated that intensive research shows that the birth control pill does not carry cancer-causing hormones or drugs. He added," However, if a woman has a medical history of blood clotting or high blood pressure, she should use another method of birth control."

On the subject of 'black genocide' and 'neighborhood death labs'(commmon terminology used in context to birth control organizations), Kenyon Burke, of the Rutgers School of Social Work and a consultant to major universities, social agencies and governmental bodies in the area of urban affairs said, " From civil rights, we have a right to the option of planned parenthood. If someone else has the right and forces it on someone else, that's coercion." Dr. Hollins added, " To the myth that the birth control agencies are found in minority neighborhoods, statistics show that blacks are under-served in the area of birth control." Dr. Hollins went on to say that the racial and population level of a certain area should be reflective in that area's birth control clinic.

A pioneer in Planned Parenthood is Eloise Whitten, who has worked with the organization since 1953. She stated that her interest in birth control began when women in her area died from septic poisoning because of self-induced abortions. Ms. Whitten continued, " I wanted to protect women, particularly black women , because they should have the right to determine childbirth." A member of Planned Parenthood's Community Affairs Committee, Ms. Whitten is a Detroit resident and the wife of Dr. Charles Whitten, a pioneer in his own right in the field of sickle cell amemia. A mother of two daughters, Ms. Whitten was recently asked to work on the International Board of Planned Parenthood and is a member of the Wayne County Board of Social Services and other groups.

A main feature of the Department of Community Affairs for Planned Parenthood is the areas of Intergroup and Human Relations, Youth and Student Affairs, which is under the direction of Burke. He stated," "Young people are more sexually active, and I don't think it shocks all parents to know this. There is more acceptance, and the Youth and Student Affairs area gets people together to discuss birth control."

The Planned Parenthood Convention concluded today with a brunch and a symposium on International Women's Year.

Black Political Caucus Endorses Candidates

The Black Political Caucus met on Saturday, October 18th, to endorse a list of state and local candidates and ballot issues. This list was a result of numerous sessions conducted by a candidate evaluation committee. Painstaking efforts were made by this committee to review and evaluate each and every candidate's positions and past performances. In the same vein, ballot issues were also screened and evaluated. Only clear consensus recommendations were presented to the Black Political Caucus. In turn, the following list reflects those candidates and issues which the Black Political Caucus feels can best serve the community:

YWCA To Hold Membership Meeting

The Tacoma YWCA will hold its membership meeting this Saturday Oct. 25, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., at 401 Broadway.

The featured speaker for the event will be Dr. Pepper Schwartz, assistant professor of Sociology at the University of Washington. Ms. Schwartz is a board member on the National YWCA and co-author of Women At Yale.

The meeting will be accompanied by an open house; activities will include demonstrations of belly dancing, self defense, trimtrout, and chair caning. A film on breast cancer self-examination and a slide show on sex role stereotyping in literature will also be presented.

Members are urged to bring a brown-bag lunch and remain to talk with new and old friends.

New Column To Be Featured In THE FACTS

Got A Problem?
Write 'Dear John'

Problems are common to all of us and what often seems like a "personal" problem is a situation shared by many. Problems concerning love, marriage, family, money, health, etc. are universal. Advice given to one person may be helpful to many.

Although a newspaper, as such, may not be able to provide definite answers to problems, it can provide an open forum for voicing them. Alos, its information resources can often provide meaningful advice and suggest possible sources where help can be obtained.

Public exposure, as well as the opportunity to simply voice a personal problem or gripe, is often the first important step in easing tension and obtaining a solution.

THE FACTS, in keeping with its endeavor to provide information and service to Seattle and the Puget Sound area, is featuring a new column entitled, Dear John. Our readers are encouraged to send letters concerning their problems to:

Fort Lewis Prepares For Freedom Train

FORT LEWIS, WA. -- Creosoted fir beams once destined for Vietnam will instead reinforce a bridge for the American Freedom Train.

The train is scheduled to be at North Fort Lewis November 6-9, but the railroad spurline leading there passes over a trestle which must be strengthened to take the train's 425-ton steam locomotive.

Engineers said the trestle is rated at only 310 tons. They said the reinforcement timbers have been doing service as parking bumpers in the years since they were shortstopped from shipment to Vietnam.

THERE ARE THOSE WHO SAY, "THERE'S ANOTHER FUNERAL HOME WHO CAN SERVE OUR COMMUNITY BETTER THAN THE HOUSE OF SCOTT MORTUARY."

These people aren't really aware of what they're saying. How can another mortuary that isn't a part of our community in any way, come into our community and do a better job than the one that's already here?

*The House of Scott Mortuary is located in our community!
*The House of Scott Mortuary is owned by those who live in our community!
*The House of Scott Mortuary is staffed by members of our community!
*The House of Scott Mortuary is geared directly to the needs of our community!

We invite you to phone or come by during normal business hours and find out exactly what the House of Scott Mortuary has to offer our community in terms of better service and understanding.

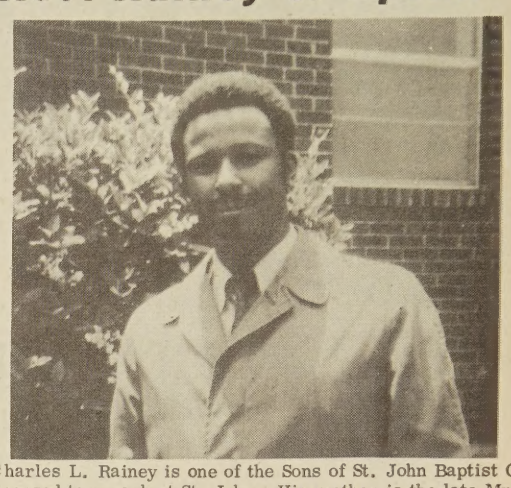
The public is cordially invited to attend and participate in this meeting. Representatives from both sides of the issue will be present.

The Fall Revival of the Shiloh Baptist Church, 1211 South "I" will be held October 26-31, 1975. Nightly services begin at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be Rev. B.A. Taylor, Pastor of the Damascus Baptist Church, Seattle, Washington. Wednesday night will be Youth Night. Thursday night will be Neighbor Night. Friday night will be Family Night. Rev. E.S. Brazill, Pastor.

Rev. Rainey to Speak



Rev. Charles L. Rainey is one of the Sons of St. John Baptist Church. He was licensed to preach at St. John. His mother is the late Mrs. O. R. Pigford, who for many years was a member of St. John. His father is Rev. O.R. Pigford, who is now an employee of the State of Washington.

Rev. C.L. Rainey will be our guest speaker for our 23rd Church Anniversary, which will begin October 27th through November 2nd, 1975. Rev. Rainey will be speaking every night at 7:00 p.m. Churches in the surrounding areas will also be attending the Anniversary.

Progress Report on Juvenile Probation Subsidy

OLYMPIA -- Washington State's Juvenile Probation Subsidy Program, now in its sixth year of operation, has been established in 31 of the state's 39 counties.

According to a progress report, covering the period from January 1971 through June 1975, the program has resulted in a continued reduction in the number of youths committed to the Department of Social and Health Services' juvenile correction facilities. The program has also resulted in the general up-grading of services and care provided delinquent and incorrigible youths by the 26 participating juvenile courts.

County participation in the Juvenile Probation Subsidy Program is on a strictly voluntary basis. A commitment reduction number is determined for each participating county. This number results from subtracting each county's actual commitments during the year from the predetermined expected commitment rate. The commitment reduction number is then multiplied by $4,000 to establish the maximum amount of state reimbursement for which the county is eligible.

Although the program has experienced moderate peaks and valleys of commitments during the five and one-half years of its existence, the overall number of youth committed from the participating courts has been forty to fifty percent below the expected levels of commitment.

The vast majority of the participating courts continue to show and demonstrate improvements in their programs. By and large, all courts are more community treatment oriented, more resource oriented, more "deinstitutionalized" in their philosophy and performance. The Probation Subsidy Program has been looked upon by many counties as the benchmark of what constitutes good community treatment practices and philosophy.

During the period covered by the progress report, the courts experienced an upswing in the number of referrals being made for service. This increase in court referrals brought about higher caseloads, and high case loads resulted in a saturation of local support and special services. Despite this, the courts in the participating counties generally continued their pattern of fielding good programs and providing good services to clients. Also, the saturation of regular resources encouraged court counselors to seek out and develop new and/or alternative resources.

By reducing the number of commitments to juvenile institutions, the Probation Subsidy Program has rescued the overall costs to the state for rehabilitating selected delinquent youths. It is estimated that there is a savings of $18,988 per average commitment.

Tacoma Scholar Awarded 7,500 $ Grant

Dr. Ronald Magden, chairman of the social sciences division at Tacoma Community College, has been awarded a $7500 National Endowment for the Humanities grant.

Dr. Magden, Tacoma area resident for ten years, will use the money to do research at the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., and other research libraries.

His project is a study of American religious attitudes towards the Russians from 1776 to 1956.

The grant is for one year. Dr. Magden has been working on the project since he joined the faculty at TCC in 1965. He has been division chairman since 1966.

A member of the Tacoma library board for the past five years, Dr. Magden is also president-elect of the Washington Library Trustees Association.

He is active with H.E.L.P. centers, an organization which assists retarded adults who have been transferred from the Rainier School at Buckley to group homes.

He has a doctorate in history from the University of Washington.

North 'E' Closed for Dedication

North "E" Street in front of Stadium High School will be closed to all traffic between 7:00 and 11:00 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 28. The closure will be made to help pedestrians have safer access to the dedication ceremonies and open house at Stadium High School.

Traffic Division Commander Capt. William Luebke stressed that motorists normally using North "E" Street should be aware of the street closure and obey the barricaded area's "No Traffic" signs.

Lighted barricades will be used to warn traffic that the street is closed, but the police department is asking motorists to use extra caution in the immediate area as a large crowd is expected for the ceremonies and open house which follow.

The barricades will be removed and the street re-opened to through traffic after 11:00 p.m. Tuesday.

Scouting

Tomawis District #1 welcomes Julius Jackson as our new chapter chief, Dist. #1, Order of the Arrow. Julius is a member of Troop 74 which is sponsored by Fawcett PTA. He is a life scout now working on his Eagle.

We now have a handicapped den from Burney school. In the future, we will include handicapped dens from other schools as we find the parents who are interested in working with the handicapped. For more information please call Donald Clug at 537-7501, OR Clarence Walker at SK2-7731 Boy Scouts of America.

We will soon be visiting all churches in the area to promote scouting for all adults and children in the district. Our goal is to involve one-third of all available parents and children. Our district roundtables are held at the St. Paul Methodist Church, South 43rd and 'L' Streets at 7:30 PM every second Thursday of the month.

The next roundtable will be held at the church on November 13, 1975 and we welcome all people who are interested in dropping in to see what a wonderful time we have in scouting. Committee training for cubbing and scouting will be held at St. Paul's on November 11 at 7:30 PM.

Tomawis District No. I welcomes Pack #100, sponsored by Bethel Lutheran Church as the newest member of our scouting family!

The Black Businessman of the Week

The Black Businessmen's Association is happy to announce their choice of "Black Businessman of the Week" for the week beginning October 26th. He is Mr. Burfford Irons, owner of the SUGAR PLUM CAFE at 1110 South 12th Street.

He was born in Mississippi, is married and has two sons. After 22 years of service in the army, he retired in 1968. Mr. Irons is a member of St. John's Baptist Church. When he has time to relax, he enjoys going camping.

Using his own resources and many hours of work, he opened his business in February, 1975. Things were difficult the first few months, but Burfford 'hung in there', and with lots of help from his good friend Jeff Terry, things picked up and now business is doing well. He employs no permanent staff, but is helped greatly by his wife Ruby and two sons; especially during the summer months. Mr. Irons also has good friends who help him out when he needs help.

Mr. Irons wants to thank his many friends who keep coming back to enjoy a meal at his cafe. He specializes strictly in good home cooking at the SUGAR PLUM CAFE.

Something To Think About

BY Barbara Henderson

Seeing two people of the same same sex together (I mean intimately) may seem strange to some, and it probably is. But who's to say?

I've been reading, and I've seen how people have been concerning themselves with society's mistreatment of homosexuals. Homosexuals are just like anyone else except for the fact that they are attracted to the same sex as their own.....Does this sound odd to you? Maybe so. Homosexuals are very often given the label as being queer and alien--they are flesh and blood human beings just like you are. Accept that!

They may be different from all other so-called normal people but it is a mere matter of opinion whether it is right or wrong. I'm not against homosexuality--I mean, to each his own--if that's what makes them happy. But if you ever see me with somebody (intimately)..... It most definitely will be a male! What do you say?

President Ford Elevates Stanley S. Scott to Top African Post in Agency For International Development

President Ford has announced his intention to nominate his top black aide, Stanley S. Scott, to be Assistant Administrator For Africa of the Agency For International Development. Scott will succeed Dr. Samuel C. Adams, Jr.

Upon confirmation by the U.S. Senate, Scott, 42, will take over a post that controls more than $170 million in loans and grants of financial assistance to developing nations in Africa.

Scott, who is currently serving as Special Assistant to the President for Minority Affairs, joined the White House staff as Assistant to the Director of Communications for the Executive Branch in June, 1971.

Scott, a Pulitzer Prize nominee and recipient of numerous awards for excellence in journalism, including the prestigious National Newspaper Publishers Association Russwurm Citation, had had newspaper, wire service and radio experience as well as serving as Assistant Director of Public Relations for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in the New York Headquarters. His first position included reporting and editorial work from 1960-64 for the Memphis (Tenn.) and the Atlanta (Ga.) Daily World, followed by two years as a reporter for United Press International in New York. After his service with the NAACP, he worked as a newsman with the Westinghouse Broadcasting Corporation Station WINS in New York. After almost two years in his first White House position, Scott was appointed in February 1973 to his present position of Special Assistant to the President.

In March 1974, Scott attended a conference in Abidjan, Ivory Coast, of U.S. Ambassadors to the Sahel countries which studied the drought problem and reviewed U.S. government relief and recovery efforts. Following the Abidjan Conference, Scott visited Upper Volta, one of the drought-stricken Sahel Nations, for an on-the-spot study of the situation. The other countries visited were Chad, Mali, Senegal, Nigeria, Ghana, and Liberia.

Born in Bolivar, Tenn., Scott attended Palmer Memorial Institute, a preparatory school in Sedalia, N.C., Kansas University in Lawrence (1951-53) and Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo. (1957-59), where he earned his B.S. Degree in journalism. He served in the U.S. Army from 1954-56, including one year in Korea. Scott is married to the former Bettye Lovejoy of Cuthbert, Ga., and they have three children.

Mayor Uhlman Welcomes National Bankers

SEATTLE MAYOR Wesley Uhlman welcomes National Bankers Association President, David Harper (left) and minority bankers to "The Queen City" for their 48th annual convention. More than 200 representatives of the 71 minority owned and operated banks participated in the three day meeting.

Put Yourself In A Burglar's Shoes and Protect Your Property

The best way to keep your home safe from burglars is to put yourself in the burglar's shoes," says Kent Stoner, manager of the Allstate Insurance Company's Seattle office. "In other words, try to think as a burglar thinks, and you won't be long in figuring out how little it takes to discourage one." The Allstate manager cites a few for-instances:

Would you try to pick a lock in a spotlight? If not, make sure you leave porch, driveway and patio lights on when you leave your home. No burglar wants to be brilliantly illuminated while trying to break into a home.

Do you get along well with strange watchdogs? You don't? Then purchase a dog. The bark of a large dog would discourage anybody. But even the barking of a dachshund usually makes a would-be break-and-enter man decide it's not worth the trouble, and he'll move on to more painless pickings.

How do you enjoy bells or sirens erupting when you're operating on tiptoe? Probably not very much. So invest in an expensive alarm or two for your doors and/or windows. A sneak-thief finds it too uncomfortable to sneak while a lot of clamorous uproar is announcing his presence.

Which would you try entering first, a lighted house or a darkened house? A darkened one? Then be sure to leave lights burning if you are going to be away from your home at night. And if on vacation, utilize a timer to turn your lights on at dusk and off later in the evening, so your home will look lived-in.

"The point is, "Stoner concludes, "the last thing a burglar wants to do is advertise that he's at work. So if you imagine what it takes to make a burglar nervous, you should easily be able to arrange to turn off his interest in your home." For further information on this topic, a free pamphlet on discouraging burglars is available by writing to the Public Affairs Department, Allstate Insurance Company, 10330 Meridian Ave. North, Seattle, WA 98133.

Find more women held for crimes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More and more women are being arrested for serious crimes, but an authority on the subject says the increase comes from property offenses such as forgery, fraud and embezzlement — not from violence.

Dr. Rita James Simon, professor of sociology at the University of Illinois, said statistics show that the percentage of women arrested for crimes of violence has fluctuated between 10 and 13 per cent for the past 20 years.

"But the picture for property offenses is markedly different," she wrote in a report published recently by the National Institute of Mental Health. In 1953, one in every 12 persons arrested for a property crime was a woman. In 1973, one in every five was a woman.

As a result of the stability of the percentage of women linked to violent crimes, Dr. Simon said in a telephone interview she did not think it was significant that women were involved in the two recent Presidential assassination attempts.

Dr. Simon said the contemporary woman and crime, it would be reasonable to assume that the women's movement has had "some effect on the Psyche, the consciousness and the self perceptions of many women in American society.

"But the extent to which it has motivated those women to act outside the law in order to gain financial rewards, vengeance, or power is still too early to assess," she said.
